Teach For America
Celebrates
Women's History Month

Happy Women's History Month!

March marks Women's History Month, a time to celebrate and honor the countless contributions of women throughout history. As Teach For America, we recognize the pivotal role women have played in shaping education and driving social change. From pioneering educators to fearless leaders, women have been at the forefront of our movement, advocating for equity and opportunity for all students. Let's take this month to reflect on the achievements of women past and present, and celebrate the women in and out of the classroom who are transforming the field of education to ensure every child has access to an excellent and equitable education.

Our Movement for Educational Equity in Massachusetts

CORPS MEMBERS, ALUMNI, PARTNERS, AND COMMUNITIES

We gathered our entire corps together in person on Saturday, March 9 for our spring Equity Summit. With the goal of building corps members' sense of connection to our broader movement for educational equity in Massachusetts, we engaged with key alumni leading critical work across the state and in our communities; strengthened corps members' resolve to make a direct impact in their classrooms, schools, and beyond; and built community together as a corps.
